FLYING
De Luxe

FLYING today is a princely mode of travel, despite the moderate rates. The necessity of eliminating time has been combined with luxury in the modern method of speeding the nation's business. Speed is the dictator—but speed without sacrifice of the ultimate in pleasure and comfort.

Step into one of our passenger, mail and express air liners. Sink into one of the ultra-comfortably upholstered seats. Examine the luxuriously furnished, tastefully appointed interior, the efficient looking control room fitted with the latest equipment developed by Aeronautical Science.

You can read, chat, watch the beauties unfolding below—even doze if you feel so disposed. You thrill to the soaring, gliding smoothness of motion; the clean, pure air; the matchless panorama of ever changing scenes; the hum of a motor capable of keeping your plane aloft for a week or more.

High in the air the earth becomes a veritable painting—a richly colored work of art. A new perspective is gained. You are soothed, refreshed, inspired! Mental strain leaves. Troubles are forgotten. You forget that you are rushing on wings of speed to your destination in one-third of the time required by other means of travel.

Travel the air-ways! A boon not only to busines men who wish to save time—but to all those who thrill to the romance of a new age that dawns.
