

When you fly to South America with Lan, you arrive before you take off.

The second you step aboard a Lan jet you're in South America.
You might be seated next to a matador from Lima.
Or a banker from Caracas.
Or a girl from Ipanema.

Relax. And let Lan put you in the mood for South America.

The wine is Chilean.

The music is Latin.

And the conversation is in Spanish, Portuguese, English, French, and so on. So you can take your pick.

The stewardii speak your language. And their own. And they're outfitted like high-fashion models from Santiago. In chic colors to match their complexions and the shade of their hair.

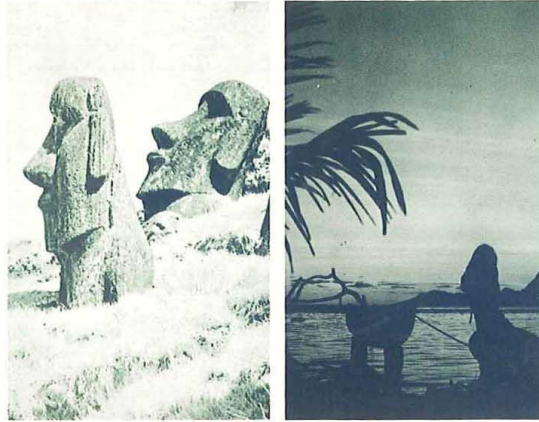

Lan's 707's and 727's roar out of Miami and New York heading to Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay. To casinos. And Cathedrals. Skyscrapers and safaris. Mountains and museums. Resorts and festivals and fishing and fun. To places like Guayaquil and Santiago. Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. Lima, Cali and Portillo.

And to some places that are out of this world. Like Easter Island. And the Polynesian paradise of Tahiti in the South Pacific.

Fly with Lan to the most exotic lands on earth.

Lan International now brings you the South Pacific.

We get around.

Lan now has weekly service from Santiago to Easter Island and Tahiti via Boeing 707 jets.

Which means that Australia, New Zealand and the Far East are linked with South America through the South Pacific for the first time. Also, for the first time, you can now fly around the world in the southern hemisphere.

And swim in clear Tahitian lagoons with Polynesian natives who look like they've just stepped from beautiful paintings by Paul Gauguin. And escape to a spectacular Sau-Sau feast on exotic Easter Island. With its primitive beaches. And mysterious craters. And archaeological wonders. And ancient war gods.

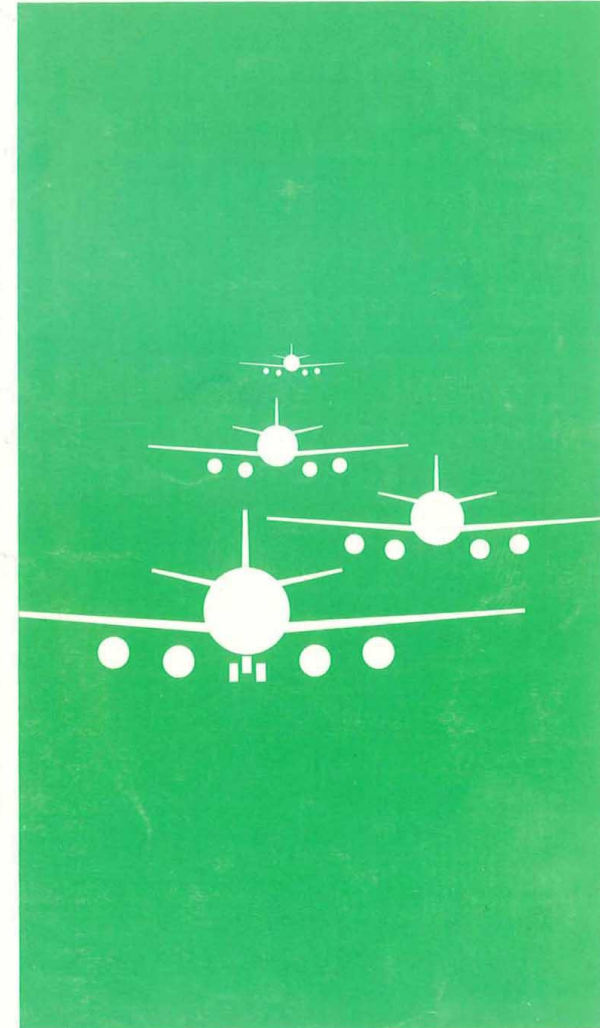

Lan International flies to South America. North America. And now to the South Pacific.

We get around.
